MPRB Proposes New Park Designs for Linden Hills
LHiNC Wants Your Feedback – Join us on March 21 at Bremer

The Minneapolis Park and Recreation Board has unveiled new design proposals for Linden Hills Park, Waveland Triangle, Dell Park, Linden Hills Boulevard and the Trolley Path. MPRB has developed at least two design options for most parks and is now collecting public comment.

In order to give Linden Hills residents the opportunity to study the plans up close, ask questions and provide direct comments on these proposals, LHiNC is inviting all our residents to attend a community meeting:

New Park Design Community Meeting
Thursday, March 21, 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Bremer, Downtown Linden Hills, 43rd & Sheridan

It will be a drop-in event, during which you can see all the designs, ask questions of MPRB staff and LHiNC board members and submit your comments. We will also provide snacks and drinks. Children are welcome - we’d like to hear their feedback, too!

The new park designs are the result of the MPRB Southwest Area Master Plan. Over a period of seven months, MPRB held more than 100+ community events to gather ideas and input from Southwest community members about local parks. Using this information and working with a design team, MPRB has developed initial concepts for every Southwest Minneapolis park.

INSIDE: Healthy Soil Workshop, A New Sebastian Joe’s & Earth Day Clean-up at Lake Harriet
Create Healthy Soil in Your Yard & Combat Climate Change
April 28th Workshop Sponsored by LHInc

LHInc’s Environmental & Sustainability Committee is sponsoring a Healthy Soils Demonstration at the Linden Hills Trolley Path off York Avenue on Sun., April 28th at 1:00 p.m.

This demonstration workshop will consist of a talk by Kassie Brown from Renaissance Soil on how to create healthy soils in your yard that will maximally absorb CO2 out of the atmosphere to help with climate change, while at the same time helping pollinators and the health of our lakes. This process also creates a yard that is more resistant to drought, as well as run off from heavy rains.

After the talk, attendees will be able to take home either biochar or enriched compost (your choice) to start creating healthy soil at home. You are also invited to stay and help Kassie and volunteers prepare the trolley path plot for the first stage of its transformation.

As part of this yearlong healthy soils initiative, Linden Hills has also selected a neighbor’s lawn that will be going through a healthy soil transformation. Please consider joining us as we learn about and implement this process on our yards together.

What’s Going on at Sebastian Joe’s?
By Carol Clemens

If you stopped by Sebastian Joe’s in Linden Hills this winter, you found more than ice cream inside. A major renovation project was underway. Owners Mike and Tim Pellizer describe it as a complete face-lift lead by architect Christian Dean to give the Linden Hills location a whole new look and layout.

Sebastian’s Joe’s has remained open during construction, moving into the indoor patio, where customers could still enjoy ‘fresh made daily’ ice creams, hand roasted coffees and homemade tasty treats.

But the wait is almost over. The grand opening is scheduled for Saturday, March 16. Customers will walk in to a light-filled open floor plan, high ceilings and bright colored tile, even window seating. The best features of the much-loved garage door patio area have been enhanced with new bistro seating and bright new colors.

The Pellizer brothers have owned and operated Sebastian Joe’s in Linden Hills since 1987. Their other location at Hennepin and Franklin Avenues has been open since 1984.

New Gild: New Look, New Location

Come April, New Gild Jewelers will have a new Linden Hills home. The custom studio and fine jewelry gallery, currently located just north of Linden43, will begin their third year of business in the recently remodeled corner space of 4300 Upton, next to Zumbro Cafe.

Co-owners Jen Bellefleur and Kelsey Lee-Karol consider the prime space a privilege that comes with a responsibility to the community and are working with the LHBA and LHInc to ensure the sidewalk experience at the corner is a positive one, with benches, planters, and signage.

As for the motivation for the move, Bellefleur says, "We can't ignore the chance to do what we’re passionate about in the very heart of this village we love."

New Gild Jewelers creates full custom jewelry and offers a large collection of diamond and gemstones, as well as local, fine art jewelry.

Neighborhoods 2020: Changes Ahead for Neighborhood Organizations

Opportunity to Provide Your Feedback Now

The city’s Neighborhood and Community Relations (NCR) Department has put forward Neighborhoods 2020 Framework Recommendations, which will impact neighborhood organizations, like LHInc. Neighborhoods 2020 sets goals to make neighborhood organizations more reflective of their community and requires a high level of community engagement.

LHInc welcomes these guidelines, viewing them as best practices for community organizations, many of which LHInc is already working towards. The city and LHInc invite you to read the framework and provide comments by March 31 at http://www.minneapolismn.gov/ncr/2020
Ward 13 Update
From Council Member Linea Palmisano

Serving as your 13th Ward Council Member allows me to represent Southwest Minneapolis on important initiatives, engage with so many residents on a regular basis, and work with amazing staff at the City. For this I am truly grateful, in part, because they represent the core characteristics of civic engagement: representation, participation and contribution.

On February 27th my office hosted a summit of all seven of the neighborhood organizations boards in the 13th Ward. It was an opportunity to share best practices between neighborhoods and to discuss a variety of city initiatives. I brought department leadership from the City, who spoke directly to board members about projects that will impact us all in the near future. I was impressed by the representation of every neighborhood and by the discussions generated by all these Southwest Minneapolis voices.

A highly anticipated topic was Neighborhoods 2020, which is about shaping how the City of Minneapolis serves and supports neighborhood organizations, including future funding. The city is soliciting feedback to help decide what that funding will look like beyond the year 2020, and I encourage everyone to participate. Whether you are a neighborhood organization participant or not, your feedback is important, because these organizations contribute to communities and we, as residents of the city, get to shape what we want them to contribute in the future.

Another opportunity I would urge you to engage in is the Southwest Minneapolis Park Master Plan. Currently, the Minneapolis Parks and Recreation Board (MPRB) is soliciting feedback on the “concept plans” they recently released for the parks in our area. LHINIC is holding a community meeting to collect feedback on park designs in your neighborhood on March 21 from 6-8 p.m. at Bremer. We have a nationally recognized and awarded parks system - take the chance to be a part of continuing that legacy!

Participating in these types of opportunities to shape the vision of the future of Minneapolis are some of the best ways to build the community in which we want to live. They touch on every component of civic engagement and allow us to lead, learn and serve. So, I ask you all, please contribute to these conversations. Participate in forums, fill out surveys and talk to your neighbors. By engaging now, you will be participating in the kind of work that will yield results that we can all see and feel and will have a lasting impact on our community as a whole.

Yours in Service,
Linea Palmisano
